

An invitation to join the Bloomington Playwrights Project
Directors Circle

To bring a new play to life is an arduous and risky journey requiring a creative director, talented actors, resourceful designers, and inventive technicians. It also takes visionary supporters to provide the resources needed to move a play from the page to the stage. Such has been the role of the BPP patrons who have enabled BPP to produce more than 450 new plays since 1979. The Board of BPP recognizes this ongoing support through the BPP Directors Circle, a community of individuals committed to sustaining BPP's core mission with a minimum annual Directors Circle contribution of $500.

We invite you to join our efforts to ensure BPP's sustainable success. Your ongoing membership in the Directors Circle creates financial stability for BPP and provides a reliable source of revenue needed to cover our increased production values and everyday operational costs.

In return, Directors Circle members are invited to attend very special invitation-only events that provide an up close and personal, behind-the-curtain look at the BPP and the creation of new theatre. In addition, Director's Circle members are recognized in all of our production programs, they also enjoy - exclusive to BPP Director Circle members - reserved seating and VIP parking.
